BBD Publishing

PO Box 351 Alton, NH 03809-0351

Deep Lake House

Author: DJ Geribo Product Code: 978-0-9883068-8-2 Availability: In Stock Weight: 6.50oz Dimensions: 8.00in x 5.25in x 0.44in

Price: $15.95

Short Description

"I am old. The paint in my rooms is peeling off the walls, the wallpaper is curling at the seams. My barnboard flooring is scuffed and worn from much walking and running with hard-soled shoes."

So begins the telling of the stories of some of the guests who've stayed at Deep Lake House.

Description

Many people have made their way to Deep Lake House over the years, but only a few stand out among them - a train robber from the 1890s, an unhappily married woman from the 1920s overshadowed by a dominating mother-in-law, a talented opera singer in the 1940s who's lost her voice, a young married couple in the 1970s trying to find their way back to each other, and a few more as equally memorable.

Each uniquely fascinating story is as captivating as the next, told by the most authentic narrator, the House itself.

| Details      |                   |
|--------------|-------------------|
| Book Details |                   |
| Author       | DJ Geribo         |
| Format       | softcover         |
| Pages        | 163               |
| ISBN         | 978-0-9883068-8-2 |
| Language     | English           |
|              |                   |

Product Gallery

FROM THE PUBLISHER

"DJ Gerlho, author of The Mart and Seven Storied Houses, has come up with mother gem in Deep Lake House. The House, acting as the narranor, shares werd and detailed memories of the captivisting gates who've stored at Deep Lake House over the spin of nearly a century."

Jim Fontsine, Editor BBD Publishing

"I am old. The paint in my rooms in peeling off the walls, the wallpaper is curling at the seams. My bamboard flooring is scaffed and wors from much walking and running with bard-soled shoes."

So begins the telling of the stutice of some of the guests who've stayed at Deep Lask House. Many people have made their way there over the years, but only a few stand our among them – a train robber from the 1890s, an unhappily married weeman in the 1920s overshadowed by a dominating mother-in-law, a takened open singer in the 1940s who's lost her voice, a young runnied couple in the 1970s trying too find their way tack to each other, and a few more a equally memorialle. Each ungedy facilitating work is each other, and a few more a equally memorialle. Each ungedy facilitating work to each other, and a few more as equally memorialle. Each ungedy facilitating work is as captivating as the next, tokl by the most authentic numetor, the House itself.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

D) Geribo is a modern day Renaissance woman. A self-described authispreneur - author, artist, and entrepreneur - who has written arcsin midpile genres with an authentic voice and a true takent for tory telling. Deep Lake House is her eighth book.

